

Edvance360 LMS-SN™ Announces 95% Adoption Rate Among Faculty Users

(Virginia Beach, VA) Edvance360 works very closely with clients to ensure a 95% usage rate or better for faculty. It has long been the last step in the implementation process with clients. Throughout 2011 and 2012, researchers with Edvance360 have been interviewing administrators at a broad sample of Edvance360 institutions. The results showed a 95% or higher faculty usage rate at all institutions who participated. These are favorable results, particularly when compared with usage rates of other learning management systems. It is important to note that this data is not reflective of all Edvance360 institutions as not all were able to participate in the interviews. Still, even with this limitation noted, the results are quite significant. The following quotes provide further context on how administrators feel when achieving 95% plus user adoption.

“Benedict College has been using Edvance360 for three years now and we absolutely love it! Before we switched, only about 6% of the faculty were using our other LMS. Now over 95% of the faculty are using Edvance360. And the students love it too! Almost all of our Staff have communities making accessing various Student Support Services offices and materials so much easier. I highly recommend it.”

- Scott Blanks, Center for Teaching and Learning Coordinator, Benedict College

“Edvance360 has demonstrated to us over and over again, in all sorts of ways, that they are a comprehensive solution, not just a Learning Management System. They listen and act quickly. Their support and training teams are patient and professional – constantly digging to interpret our needs for us. Opening day of the semester never went this smoothly with our previous CMS vendor! We are now at a 100% faculty usage rate across campus.”

- Valerie Stephens, Director of Online Learning, Carson Newman
