

Irish Dog Food 'Pet Master' New Website Offer - 20% Off

Popular with dog breeders, Pet Master dog food is now available for anyone in the UK & Ireland. Also 20% discount - website launch offer

Belfast, N. Ireland. 1st August 2012

Irish dog food company Pet Master grows increasingly popularity with pedigree dog show exhibitors. It is now available to everyone in the UK & Ireland, and for a limited time get 20% discount on their new website.

Pet Master in Dublin have teamed up with the pet food distributor Doig Marketing in Belfast to make the Dog and Cat food available to more people.

A spokesperson from Doig Marketing said that he was "...delighted to be working with Pet Master. Having tried our own dogs on the food we found that they all love it. We found the dry especially easy to mix with the tins of Pet Master dog food. We have found that a lot of owners like to mix dog food like this. Two of our test dogs are prone to stomach upsets, and many supermarket dog foods can run straight through them.

Though, when they ate Pet Master - neither dog had any problems and no upset tummy."

Doig Marketing have built a website where anyone can order the dog food online and get it delivered. The web site is easy to browse and purchase food, there is even instruction for people who maybe don't have much experience shopping online.

The company says that the orders are made up and sent out with a delivery company every weekday with next day delivery. Payment can be made with the usual cards or even PayPal.

The Pet Master "Premium" dog food is said to be popular with dog breeders, and the "Silver" variety with normal 'pet dog' owners. Both of these foods are 'complete' dog food, meaning that they contains all the recommended vitamins and minerals etc needed for a healthy balanced diet for dogs. This means nothing else is needed to supplement a healthy dog's diet. Which is a financial saving for people currently buying a food that isn't complete. The food costs approximately £15 - £23 per 15kg bag on the website depending on the variety. There is also extra discount for buying a number of bags at once.

Pet Master is based in Dublin, and the food distributed from Belfast. It may be news to some people, that many of the big named brands in pet food, are owned by parent companies outside the UK or Ireland.

Pet Master make food for active dogs, working dogs and even racing dogs.

As a website launch offer they are offering 20% discount for a limited time through this page:
