

Date! The Complete Home Study Course Review Published To Examine Love System's New Dating Guide

"Love Systems' new Date! The Complete Home Study Course program rolled out today and we were excited to get to review this blockbuster dating guide" reports Clint Johnson of <http://puabooks.net>. "In addition to their live boot-camps Love System is known for putting out quality home study courses, and this new program Date! is interesting because it focuses of dating rather than pick up artistry."

Love Systems, formerly known as the Mystery Method Corporation is among the oldest and most established of the large dating coaching companies in the world. They employ over thirty five dating instructors, and offer an extensive array of dating advice products, international boot-camps, and seminars.

Johnson explain the story behind Date! The Complete Home Study Course.

"Love Systems' new program Date! The Complete Home Study Course is all about helping men to get more dates, have better relationships, and of course have more intimacy with the women that they date," Johnson said. "This program was created by popular Love System instructors Nick Hoss, Daniel Vercetti and Mr. M and I think that these guys are introducing some really fresh ideas about how men can date more successfully"

Love Systems already has a wide variety of products on subjects such as texting, approaching women, and body language available, but Date! The Complete Home Study Course is their first offering dedicated to the art of dating.

"Almost every guy thinks he is better at dates than he is. I was the same way. Before I learned how to attract beautiful women, the only women I got dates with were desperate or had known me for a long time. They didn't care that my 'date game' was terrible - so I mistakenly thought it was good!" says Love Systems president Nick Savoy. "This was one of the big reasons why Nick Hoss, Daniel Vercetti, Mr. M, and I decided that what the Love Systems community needed next was a complete and user-friendly course on dates."

While some skeptics may question whether a home study course can actually help a man to improve his dating life, men by the thousands continue to flock to sold out love Systems seminars hoping to learn the keys to success with women.

"Results may vary", says Johnson. "But I think that any single guy out there could learn some valuable dating skills by listening to what Nick Hoss, Vercetti and Mr. M have to say in this new Date! The Complete Home Study Course program"
