New Directions, Inc. is an innovative training and employee development firm located in southern Vermont since 1984. New Directions' Performance Strategy Consultants specialize in helping organizations get the most out of their people by raising the bar and inspiring potential.

New Directions partners with organizations to build a people-centered, high-engagement workplace by providing services in facilitation management, employee training and development, staff and customer surveying, leadership and executive coaching, and organizational strategy and assessment.

A diverse and dynamic group of relationships, New Directions primary focus has always been to provide excellent quality service to our long standing clients. It is our belief that to nurture a relationship in the current business environment is to embody trust and quality.

The clients that partner with us are typically fast growing organizations who realize that to be successful requires the ability to master a changing work environment, unite diverse perspectives from all areas of the organization, engage in process improvement and promote continuous innovation of products and services — all to satisfy increasingly demanding customers.
