

College Merchandise on Sale at CollegiateLiving.com as Students Head Back to School

College merchandise is being offered at great prices by CollegiateLiving.com as students look to stock their dorm rooms for the fall semester.

College stuff is on sale at Collegiate Living as another semester begins and students and alumni alike gear up to represent their favorite teams and schools.

The Scottsdale, Arizona business only sells officially licensed products by the NCAA, NFL and MLB so customers can be sure they are getting the highest quality products on the market.

Visitors will find a art selection of great products, from license plate and spare tire covers to banner flags, bean bag chairs and themed diploma frames.

"Whether you are looking to spruce up your dorm room or your living room, we have an amazing selection of products to choose from at prices you won't find anywhere else," said Collegiate Living's spokesperson. "We strive to offer a diverse and unique collection of college gear."

College merchandise often spikes in popularity when semesters begin and the most sought after items become harder and harder to find. Collegiate Living has stocked up on gear from the most popular colleges in the country to ensure there's enough in stock to meet growing demand.

Visitors will find a great inventory of discount diploma frames, including a series of NCAA college diploma frames and gold seal college diploma frames to highlight accomplishments and school pride with style.

"Of course we also have some of the most popular college apparel, including stylish half-zip sweatshirt jackets featuring the logo of your favorite school or team," Collegiate Living said. "We're also putting our entire collection of men's watches on sale for a limited time. We want to make sure our customers find exactly what they are looking for."

Collegiate Living also offers a variety of professional sports themed products such as hats, golf bags, towels, banners and lighting - not to mention an entire category of products dedicated to cookouts and tailgating.

To browse a growing inventory of college and professional sports merchandise, visit the official site at <http://www.collegiateliving.com>.