

Elite Security Services Announces the Introduction of New Service Plan with Advanced Voice Connect Technology to the Idaho Home Security Industry.

Elite Security Services, America's leading provider of domestic security service, have recently introduced their advanced Premium plan for their Idaho home security customers. Powered by the latest voice connect technology, this service plan makes it much easier for homeowners to immediately connect to ADT monitoring team in case of emergency.

Well known home protection company Elite Security Services has recently launched their popular Premium package in the Idaho home security market to strengthen their position in the growing industry. This plan reduces the emergency response time while communicating with the ADT monitoring centers during emergency, thanks to the latest voice connect or two way voice technology. It may be recalled that the company has been serving homeowners in Idaho with their two other service plans for almost a year. Their economical security service has made them one of the most preferred service providers across the state, and the introduction of their new plan would definitely make them a stronger force in the industry.

This new plan has already hit the Idaho home security market and is available for a monthly rental of only $40.99 per month. The effectiveness of any security system relies heavily on its ability to communicate with its monitoring stations. The new package from Elite Security Services has an efficient control panel equipped with intercom facility. This system can effectively judge the nature of emergency, and allows users to communicate immediately with the monitoring stations from any part of their house.

During the launch of the package in the state, the owner of the company Mr. Paul Shakuri stated, "This package has been a great success for us throughout the United States and Canada. We are sure that the homeowners in Idaho would love the amazing features of this advanced package". Mr. Shakuri is a well known home security consultant with years of experience in this field. His knowledge and expertise has been largely responsible behind the company's success in Idaho home security industry. Apart from offering economical security service, the company has also taken a proactive role in building mass awareness for home protection.

About the Company: Elite Security Services is a rapidly growing company in the home security industry. They offer highly efficient and economical home security solutions in America and Canada.
