Valdata Systems Announces the Launch of its Industry Resource Newsletter

Chemical Management Company Launches Manufacturing Industry Newsletter and Resource Site

September 11, 2012: Valdata Systems today announced the launch of a new industry newsletter for manufacturers.

The newsletter provides news and information for manufacturers in the pharmaceutical, cosmetic, food and chemical manufacturing industries. In this digital age, with so much information from so many sources, the Valdata industry newsletter weeds through information from a multitude of sources to find the stories and issues most relevant to readers such as product recalls, FDA announcements and industry events.

The newsletter also features editorial articles on important issues faced by manufacturers today. Topics covered have included reducing human error on the shop floor, protecting new product investment and the impact of social media on manufacturing.

The newsletter is available on the Valdata Systems website and by free e-mail subscription. Both can be accessed at: <http://www.valdatasystems.com/resourcecenter.html>
