Identity Theft in New Hampshire

SOCIAL MEDIA

In an increasingly technological world, identity theft has become a familiar crime. A New Hampshire identity theft offense is a matter of serious concern since it is classified as a class A felony if the loss exceeds $1,000. Otherwise, it is a class B felony.

Hear how you can save yourself from potential harsh penalties with the help of attorney Ryan Russman.

Your Guide to a CDL DUID Charge

If you have a CDL you know its value. More than just a right to drive big rigs, motorcycles, and other atypical vehicles, a commercial driver's license provides you with a way to make an income and build a career.

In New Hampshire, the law punishes those who hold a CDL severely if caught driving under the influence of drugs.
