

Acclaimed Online Marketing Coach Advices to Check the Features before Choosing Cheap Web Hosting Service

Popular business trainer Mike Bashi has warned online business enthusiasts about choosing a cheap web hosting service without thoroughly checking the service features. His new website Hostmonopoly.com not only discusses the most critical features of good web hosting service but also reveals the name of the best service provider in the present market.

Signing up with a cheap web hosting service may have dreadful consequences for an online business, according to noted online marketing expert Michael Bashi. In his new website Hostmonopoly.com, he has advised business owners to carefully examine the features offered by the company before taking any decision. Hostmonopoly is an exceptional website that serves both as a training and review platform. Mr. Bashi has created this free website on the basis of his own extensive research conducted on all the hosting service providers on the market. It must be mentioned here that Mr. Bashi is one of the most distinguished business coaches with several popular online tutorials to his credit.

New business owners often opt for cheap web hosting companies because building a new website can be an expensive affair. However, choosing the wrong service can severely affect the business plans because reliable hosting is one of the most preliminary requirements of a website. Mr. Bashi suggests that server reliability, support facility, quality, and availability of domain and bandwidth are some of the features that are far more important than the price. However, signing up for the video tutorial at Hostmonopoly makes the job much easier because this video reveals the name of the most trustworthy website host.

Mr. Bashi and his team have arrived at their conclusion after reviewing all service providers and thoroughly examining their performance. The video tutorial can be accessed free of charge, and one only requires a valid email address to know the name of the best hosting service provider. The video also offers detailed guidelines for managing a hosting account. Talking about the problems of using a cheap web hosting service, Mr. Bashi says, "You can certainly use a cheap hosting service. However, make sure it has all the necessary features. Otherwise, you could end up wasting your time and money".
