

Convention Inventions Brings Romney Oven Mitts to the 2012 Presidential Election Race

Don't get burned by Obama again! Show your support for Mitt Romney and Paul Ryan by waving your MITT proudly at the next rally. Get your Don't Get Burned Oven MITT® today.

Convention Inventions has introduced a new product for this year's heated presidential election. Their new product the "Don't Get Burned Oven MITT®" is an alternative to traditional campaign signage.

"Why wave a boring old campaign sign this year when you could wave a MITT" say the partners of Convention Inventions, with a chuckle. Not to mention once Romney is elected President you can use it in your kitchen for the next 4 to 8 years.

Many people are skeptical of getting burned again by President Obama's policies and rhetoric, so we are giving supporters a fun way to express their feelings and political views in a practical manner. After all you could not ask for a better name to work with from a creative stand point. It just seemed natural to focus our 2012 efforts on supporting the Republican Party in its push to carry Mitt Romney and Paul Ryan to the White House.

Conceived and designed by small business owners in Southwestern Pennsylvania the "Mitt" made its debut during the 2012 Republican National Convention and interest has been growing ever since. Don't be the last member of the party to get yours! Show your support for Mitt Romney and purchase your "Don't Get Burned Oven MITT®" today at either www.RomneyOvenMitt.com or www.conventioninventions.com. A portion of all profits will be donated to the Mitt Romney / Paul Ryan election campaign.

If you are interested in including the "The Vote Mitt, Don't Get Burned" product as part of your campaign's promotion materials, please do not hesitate to contact us for discount pricing on bulk orders. We look forward to partnering with you!

About Convention Inventions

Conventions Inventions, was started in 2004 with the release of the "Official John Kerry Flip-Flop" which was initially produced for Senator Jeffery Piccola and provided as gifts to the 75 member delegation from Pennsylvania during the 2004 election season.

GOP Supporters and volunteers at the National Convention went wild over the idea and ultimately the product was offered to the public. Little did we know the level of interest they would generate!

Since then Convention Inventions has continued to develop creative promotional items for private and public sector organizations spanning both political and promotional convention needs.

We have over 10 years in the industry specializing in:

- creative product design

- attention grabbing giveaway items
- mobile development
- web and application development
- illustration and animation
- online surveying and polling
- interactive kiosk design and development
- print design

In a crowded marketplace of convention-related products, it is crucial to have a savvy, well-seasoned team providing strategy, coordinating, and implementing your promotional efforts.

Remember to “VOTE” Convention Inventions.

Follow us on twitter at @RomneyOvenMitt or give us a like on Facebook at <http://www.facebook.com/ConventionInventions>

Contact Information

Sean Ziencik

Convention Inventions

<http://www.romenyovenmitt.com>

412-475-9101