KANSAS CITY, September 21, 2012 — Siege Sports announced today that it has produced the varsity football uniforms that the Raymore-Peculiar High School will wear for tonight's homecoming game. Ray-Pec plays Lee's Summit High School at 7pm at Ray-Pec High School, 20801 South School Road, Peculiar, MO 64078. The uniforms include jerseys and pants, and involve a design that is printed over the entire surface of the fabric using a sublimation process. The design uses a camouflage image that creates the theme "Welcome to the Jungle." Siege Sports operates two retail locations in Independence, Missouri, and Overland Park, Kansas, and embosses most of its sports apparel in Grandview, Missouri.

"We had no idea how great the uniforms were going to look," said Ray-Pec head football coach Tom Kruse. "They are professional caliber jerseys—most top college programs don't have uniforms that look this good."

"The sublimation printing process allows us to literally design a custom fabric for a team using their mascot imagery or school theme," said Siege Sports president Chris Barnes. "It is our plan to bring this quality design to other high school athletic programs, as well as recreational and traveling sports teams around the country."
