The article goes beyond Recipe Manager and discusses the full Chemical Management System offered by Valdata Systems. The article discusses how Valdata's full Chemical Management System (which includes manufacturing, inventory, quality control and formulation) assists companies in achieving better control over their production process while meeting stringent audit requirements.

"The system offers real-time, paperless control over all the primary manufacturing process, including formulation development, receiving, testing, inventory control and pre-weigh, as well as providing an overview of the manufacturing and production processes."
