

New Review Website Hostmonopoly.com Launched by Mike Bashi to Offer Reliable Host Gator Reviews.

Host Gator reviews available in the recently launched website Hostmonopoly.com has again put Mike Bashi in the center stage of the online business community. In this new website, Mr. Bashi discusses his own experience of dealing with different hosting services and how Host Gator has solved all his hosting related concerns for once and all.

The most authentic Host Gator reviews are now available in a brand new website created by popular online marketing trainer and business consultant Mike Bashi. Mr. Bashi is an eminent personality in the online business fraternity and has created several highly sought after review and training websites in the past. His latest website Hostmonopoly.com stands out from the crowd of online review platforms because he has created this website after using hundreds of web hosting services. Mike Bashi strongly recommends Host Gator over any other hosting service because they offer all the essential features within an affordable price.

In his Host Gator reviews, Mike Bashi suggests all online entrepreneurs to use this hosting service because it offers unlimited disk space, server reliability, cpanel, unlimited customer support, free site builder, unlimited bandwidth, 99.99% uptime, and many more benefits. Like many new online business owners, Mr. Bashi also tried out several web hosting services without any satisfaction whatsoever. Talking about his horrible experience one such company, he says, "They are so bad that you can only contact them through certain hours of the day not including weekends and you usually get a reply back within 1-2 business days which I find to be very annoying". After changing his service provider several times, he has been using Host Gator since 2007 and has never faced any problem at all.

In his website, Mr. Bashi has warned website owners about free web hosting service providers. According to him, these websites are free because they have almost nothing to offer. It makes little sense to avail these useless hosting services when top class hosting service from Host Gator is available for only $3.96 per month, he suggests. The Host Gator reviews available in Hostmonopoly.com have already helped many beginners to make an informed decision while choosing their hosting service.
