

The Coupons App Mobile Marketing Solution Offers Live Coupon Deals on Consumer Halloween Tricks and Treats

Just in time for Halloween, leading coupon app company, The Coupons App, is proud to offer app users Halloween related coupons for a wide range of deals. From candy to costumes shoppers need not pay full price this year when they can rely on The Coupon App to provide fast and easy access to all the Halloween discounts and deals they need, right at their fingertips.

October 23, 2012 -- With Halloween fast approaching, the number one ranked coupon app leader, The Coupons App, is now offering daily deals for an assortment of Halloween discounts. Whether users are looking for deals on costumes, or buying trick-or-treating candy at the grocery store, The Coupons App has it all covered.

“With the gift giving holidays fast approaching, no one wants to spend a ton of money on Halloween costumes,” says the founder of The Coupons App. “We want to make it easy on app users to find discounts and deals that are within their vicinity just by opening the app and using their current location.”

The current deals that are going on include discounts on Halloween stores for costumes, accessories and decorations at local stores in the area and online. There are also deals that notify app users of promotions that stores and restaurants are currently running for Halloween. For example, one of the most recent deals notifies users: “Come in costume for a free doughnut at Krispy Kreme (10/31).”

By simply typing “Halloween” in the search box for deals, the app will not only bring store discounts, but also deals on upcoming events for the Halloween season.

“For people who aren’t sure what their Halloween plans are, the app also includes deals for venues that are hosting Halloween events in their local areas,” says the developer. “For example, the screenshot (see attachment) shows a few examples of Halloween event ideas in the users’ local area.”
