

Magnetic Messaging: Review Reveals Bobby Rio's Controversial Texting Guide For Guys

Summary: PUABooks.net releases a review of Magnetic Messaging a guide to texting women from renowned dating coaches Bobby Rio and Rob Judge. The book, which intends to give single men an upper hand on the dating scene has quickly become the Internet's top texting program.

"Magnetic Messaging addresses one of the biggest dilemmas facing single men in the twenty first century," reports PUABook.net's Clint Johnson. "The dilemma is knowing how to text a girl to get her out on a date with you once you've gotten her phone number, and this is something that has a lot of men out there baffled, and looking for answers."

Magnetic Messaging was co-created by Bobby Rio a well known dating expert specializing in conversational skills, and Rob Judge a dating coach known for helping guys to "date hotter girls". According to Rio, it was Judge who developed Magnetic Messaging's patented "Key Lock Sequence" and used it extensively in his own personal life before introducing it to Rio.

"Rob's tiny apartment has been a revolving door of New York City's hottest women..." says Rio. "He is able to consistently turn phone numbers into dates from women who have hundreds of other guys breathing down their necks..." Johnson offers this explanation for the explosive popularity of Rio and Judge's texting course:

"Anyone active on the singles scene today knows that texting is critical," says Johnson. "Although there have been a few other texting guides released in the past few years, these have in my opinion been of very poor quality, in fact I doubt that they were ever texted at all. Magnetic Messaging on the other hand is a proven system from two of NYC's top dating coaches. The course includes breakdowns of real text exchanges and explanations of why specific texts succeed where others fail. you could almost call it a scientific approach to successful texting."

The Magnetic Messaging system is available digitally online allowing users instant access to training materials. In addition the main Magnetic Messaging manual customers also receive an addition training program called "The Infatuation Formula", access to "The Magnetic Mastermind Kit" which teaches advanced strategies and techniques, and "The 99 Best Texts of All Time" a bonus offering 99 proven cut and paste text messages for every situation imaginable.

"These days, a guy without texting skills is at a marked disadvantage," says Johnson. "As Rio points out, just because a girl gave you her number, it doesn't mean that she has signed some sort of social contract to see you again. Guys need texting skills to turn numbers into dates, and the Magnetic Messaging program is our pick as the best resource for developing those skills."
