NurseTogether.com Partners with Stephanie Staples to Create “Life Support for Nurses” App

Top Online Nursing Community Sponsors the Creation of an App Dedicated to Making Life Easier for Overworked Nurses

November 7, 2012, Charlotte, NC — NurseTogether.com, one of the most popular online communities for nursing professionals, today announces the launch of the Life Support for Nurses app by Stephanie Staples. The Life Support for Nurses iPhone app was created to give nurses encouragement and motivation when they need it. The app offers inspirational quotes, insights and ideas to help clear up the minds of overworked nurses.

Stephanie Staples, author, radio host and professional speaker, is the creator of the app. She said that she wanted NurseTogether.com involved in the development of the app from the get-go. “It is their continuous dedication to the advancement of nurses’ personal and professional lives that convinced me that we have to make this app together.”

“We’re delighted that Stephanie Staples came to us for this project,” Jenny Solcruz, NurseTogether.com Vice President said. “NurseTogether.com is always looking for ways to help the nursing community. We believe that this app is a useful toolkit for nurses to cope with daily stress and burnout and we wouldn’t be doing our job if we didn’t help make this app a reality.”

Staples also founded Your Life, Unlimited, a personal and professional growth company that aims to help people do more with their work and personal lives.

Your Life, Unlimited sprung from Staples' own experience with burnout as a nurse. After bouncing back, she decided to dedicate her life to helping others prevent burnout. The Life Support for Nurses iPhone app is one more tool that nurses can use to battle burnouts.
