Andrea Zveibil Joins Cirrus Medical Staffing to Assist in Managing Cirrus' Industry Expansion

10-Year Healthcare Staffing Industry Veteran will run the new Florida Office of Cirrus Medical Staffing

Charlotte, NC — Cirrus Medical Staffing (www.cirrusmedicalstaffing.com), an industry leader in travel nursing and allied healthcare staffing, welcomes healthcare staffing industry veteran Andrea Zveibil to help run Cirrus' office in Florida as well as to help the company expand its presence in the healthcare staffing industry.

As Cirrus' new Vice President, Zveibil will manage Cirrus' new Florida office, which is slated to open on January 1, 2013. She has been brought on board to hire, train and develop a team of recruiters and account managers that will service clients and providers nationwide.

Zveibil brings with her ten years of healthcare staffing industry experience having joined the industry in 2002 as a nurse recruiter with AMN Healthcare. She became part of AMN's leadership team in 2004 when she led a team of recruiters.

"I have had the opportunity to work with nurses, physicians, and allied professionals very closely through my healthcare staffing experience over the last ten years," Zveibil said, adding, "I truly appreciate the value that each respective clinician provides to our valued clients."

"Cirrus is fortunate to have Andrea manage our Florida office," said Randy Holloran, President of Cirrus Medical Staffing. "Cirrus continues to grow as a company and with that comes the need to bring in people with the expertise and experience to meet the challenges of continued growth."

“I am very excited to be working with a team of qualified professionals to open Cirrus’ Florida office,” Zveibil said. “Cirrus Medical Staffing represents ‘Quality Care... Because it Matters,’ which is why the timing is most crucial now to expand and bring that level of patient care to our clients.
