

Parkour Free Running

3D App 'Parkour Free Running' Launches On Apple's App Store!

All Tricks Officially Approved by American Parkour, This App Will Blast You Along the City Skyline In True Parkour Fashion.

Utah – November 8, 2012 – Available today, the app Parkour Free Running has over 20 official aerial tricks and vaults, each reviewed and approved by American Parkour. This app brings a new standard to app animation as gamers soar from building to building collecting coins and sponsor credits with the ultimate goal of completing each objective and unlocking the David Belle Achievement award.

Gamers that play Parkour Free Running will be moving among three unique environments. Each player starts in the hallway of a skyscraper and rapidly moves to the city's rooftops where they will have to maneuver up, down, left, and right as the path rapidly changes elevation and direction. As players advance along the path they are introduced to unfinished construction sites and can leap into hallways where the intensity increases while visibility becomes more challenging. Gamers collect coins and sponsor credits that unlock power ups, new players, and ultimately the David Belle Achievement Award. To make the game interesting for all levels, objectives are listed to increase difficulty and make game play more exciting.

"As I was coached by Mark Toorock, the founder of America Parkour, on the details of Parkour and Freerunning moves, I knew this game was going to require a new strategy of multiple animations and demand the best of each individual on my team" Said Jonathan Tanner, CEO of Pro App Developers.

Parkour Free Running is now available worldwide for FREE on Apple's iTunes store.
