

Instant Vacation Rental Booking!

One out of three tourists and one out of every four business travelers prefer vacation rentals over hotels when they travel in the European Union. Why? Because these discerning folks know that they don't have to pay a lot of money for luxury accommodations that feel like a home away from home. Often even more affordable than a comparable hotel room, choosing a vacation rental also delivers much more real estate. While luxury hotel rooms can be amazingly well appointed, they definitely come up short on the size and that welcoming feel you get from a private residence. Vacation rentals are real homes, meant to be lived in and enjoyed so you may just find yourself walking into a huge flat or condo instead of a little cubbyhole of a room.

Wouldn't you rather pay for an impressive apartment and no lobby than a giant lobby designed by some overpriced world-renowned wunderkind and a tiny room? You're not living in the lobby, so why pay for it? Shouldn't all that space and luxury be utilized in your room?

With vacation rentals, you'll not only get more space and comfort for your hard-earned money but you'll also get more control over your space. No maid service waking you up or walking in on you on their schedule. You and only you determine when your maid service arrives. When you're handed the keys to your vacation rental, you're being handed the keys to your home.

Now, OMG.travel has revolutionized the way you can search for and book unique vacation rentals that suit your taste and your budget. We make it simple and we make it safe.

Our pictures will never be deceiving (ever choose a hotel room on-line by looking at pictures and arriving to find that the picture made everything look much bigger or richer? We have.) Our transactions are secure and your information is kept private.

Book a short-term vacation property with OMG.travel and find out how quickly and easily you can take advantage of the outstanding value and comfort provided by alternative vacation rentals. You'll always be protected by our Lowest Rate Guarantee and have access to our complimentary Travel Care and Concierge Service.