

TheGrint.com

Handicap Solutions for the new golf world

The Grint

Our Mission

We created TheGrint.com to provide golfers with a hassle free way to track their Handicap and Stats while competing with their friends even when they are away. Our website and mobile applications are intended to create a place for golfers to share their passion for the game.

Our Scorecard Picture Service

Our flagship “Scorecard Picture Service” allows golfer to take a picture of their scorecard with their phone at the end of their round, email it to us with their phone and we upload the scores into the system for them.

Our Current Growth

We are currently growing steadily. We expect to continue this growth and become the number one site for Golfers to keep their scores and interact with their friends.

What differentiate us

We are differentiated by our passion for the game, creativity and commitment to always innovate. The same way we developed the idea for the Scorecard Picture Service, we are also innovating in many other areas and spend most of our time brainstorming new creative ideas.

Our website has the sign “Beta” on the top left side of every screen. We strive to never get away from being in “Beta” so we can always innovate in our products based on customer’s continuous feedback. “Beta” for those of you who don’t know is when an organization has released a first version of a website (or project) for users to test it and give feedback. We bent it, we know, but it is just a state of mind that we want to have here at The Grint.

Having said that, our product is the most innovative in the market. Our analytical tools are also very much focused on creating opportunities for interactions of our users. Our social component and competitive environment generates lots of excitement among our users.

Finally, unlike anyone else, we focus on what is relevant, non intrusive and value added for our users. We believe that our focus and values on “Relevant”, “Non intrusive” and “Value Added” makes us unique in our industry and is why our current users love us so much.