

Blogging With John Chow: Review Of New "Make Money Blogging" Course Released by WealthSpringMarketing.com

Summary: WealthSpringMarketing.com releases a review of "Blogging With John Chow" a new online training course for aspiring bloggers looking learn the secrets of blogging for profit from legendary blogging entrepreneur John Chow.

"Blogging With John Chow has just been released and webmasters around the world are eager to learn the ropes of professional blogging from the man whose name has become synonymous with 'make money online'," reports WealthSpringMarketing.com's Tiffany Hendricks. "Few bloggers have achieved the level of notoriety and status Chow has, so we were quite eager to review the course and see what kind of training the 'blog king' has in store."

Blogging with John Chow was developed by John Chow in collaboration with internet marketing whiz kid Peng Joon. Chow who owns one of the worlds most heavily trafficked blogs is known best in the blogging and internet marketing community for showing the the world the jaw-dropping income power income producing power of running a blog. Notably, Chow was able to take his blogging business from zero to earning over $40000 per month in just two short years.

Hendricks offers this insight on Blogging With John Chow's massive overnight popularity:

"Getting started with an online business is very exciting, but at the same time it can be scary, and extremely overwhelming," says Hendricks. "Most aspiring online entrepreneurs fail, because they lack an action plan. They keep jumping from one thing to another searching for that 'magic bullet' that will make their income dreams come true. John Chow's program offers these folks a solid, proven system that they can follow, so they can quit messing around and get down to business. And, I think people feel like they can trust in the system, because it has clearly been very profitable for Chow and his many previous students, including Joon."

Blogging with John Chow is available digitally online, giving customers instant access to training materials. Inside the "members section" users are greeted with a comprehensive video training course that walks one through various aspects of setting up and running a successful blogging business including: domain selection, branding, social networking, traffic generation, SEO, monetization, WordPress plugins, incorporating multimedia, among others. Additional PDFs, a 30 day action plan, numerous case studies, technical support and troubleshooting assistance are included as well.

"As somebody who struggled to set up blogs that turn a profit I've been through numerous courses on blogging," says Hendricks. "One thing that stands out about Chow's course is that he starts at the beginning and covers everything, so there is no concern about it being 'too technical'. That said, seasoned bloggers who have yet to reach the 40k a month level will be sure to pick up some worthwhile insights as well."

Those wishing to purchase Blogging With John Chow, or for more information, click here.

Tiffany Hendricks provides boutique marketing services to elite clients and reviews of the best internet marketing courses on her website WealthSpringMarketing.com. Those wishing to read Hendricks' Blogging With John Chow review can find it at the following web address: <http://wealthspringmarketing.com/blogging-with-john-chow/>

###