FIND FITNESS BALANCE IN FOODIE PARADISE WITH PORTLAND'S PROVENANCE HOTELS AND BARRE3

December 12, 2012 – PORTLAND, Ore. – Proving the adage that good things come in threes, downtown Portland's three award-winning Provenance Hotels have teamed up with barre3, the nation's hottest fitness movement, to offer a "barre3 Balance" hotel package and help travelers restore their fitness equilibrium as they work off calories from the city's famed eateries.

A Portland original, just like Provenance Hotels' historic Governor Hotel, chic Hotel Lucia and glamorous Hotel deLuxe, barre3 was developed by expert instructor Sadie Lincoln and combines elements of ballet barre, yoga and Pilates to transform the body and create balance, strength and flexibility. Embodying a spirit of entrepreneurial collaboration unique to Portland, these two innovative, independent companies have come together to help travelers strike a balance between fitness and indulgence.

A "barre3 Balance" getaway pairs an overnight stay with a class at barre3's flagship studio in downtown Portland and includes $20 worth of room service for a balanced breakfast, one of barre3's signature exercise balls and, so travelers can make their newfound balance a long-term habit, free online barre3 classes for the following 30 days.

Rates for Provenance Hotels' "barre3 Balance" package start at $219 per night, plus tax. The package is available at Portland's Governor Hotel, Hotel Lucia and Hotel deLuxe now through June 1, 2012 and can be booked online at www.provenancehotels.com/barre3.
