

Edvance360 LMS-SN receives “Most Supportive & Innovative LMS Vendor of 2012” award from the Catholic Distance Learning Network of the Seminary Department of the National Catholic Educational Association.

(Virginia Beach, VA – December 2012) Edvance360 LMS-SN today announced it has received an award for “Most Supportive and Innovative LMS Vendor of 2012” from the Catholic Distance Learning Network of the Seminary Department of the National Catholic Educational Association. The award was conferred for both excellence in support shown by the staff at Edvance360 and innovative learning tools in Edvance360 LMS-SN. Edvance360, the CDLN, and the Holy Apostles Seminary teamed together this fall to host a highly successful MOOC featuring two certificates. (The MOOC will also be offered again in January 2013.)

“The professional staff at Edvance360 provided ongoing and instant support whenever a question arose not only from the administration and faculty supporting the MOOC but also from the students enrolled in the MOOC, for which we are grateful,” said Msgr. Jeremiah McCarthy, SJ Executive Director, Seminary Department of the NCEA.

“Edvance360 provided support above and beyond what any institution would expect. Also, the additional assistance their experts provided in redesigning the MOOC for the Spring 2013 session based on the data received in its first fall 2012 run was exceptional,” said Dr. Sebastian Mahfood, OP Coordinator of the Catholic Distance Learning Network. “We highly recommend Edvance360 to any of the schools in our network.”

From Edvance360:
