Top Realtor Provides Valuable Coaching Services in Upcoming Online Sessions

Liz Saunders offering four coaching sessions at a discounted package rate

EXTON, PA — Real estate professionals looking to enhance their business and make the most of their time and energy will have the opportunity to learn from one of the top realtors in the nation with four coaching sessions taking place in January.

Liz Saunders, a real estate broker whose sales have consistently ranked her within the top one percent of realtors in the country, will conduct special coaching sessions starting Monday, January 7 at 6 p.m. The other three sessions will take place on each concurrent Monday, with all sessions lasting from 6 to 7 p.m.

“I am very pleased to hold these special coaching sessions for up-and-coming real estate professionals,” said Saunders. “Over the years, I have learned a lot about making the most of your time and finding the types of clients who will result in strong returns for your business. This is an opportunity for me to share my knowledge and help other realtors find success, even in these difficult economic times.”

Saunders is a prolific real estate broker who has sold millions of dollars worth of property over her long and successful career. She has worked with countless homebuyers and sellers, helping individuals find the perfect homes and real estate for their needs. Saunders also has experience as an effective business manager, taking over a failing office and turning it around within a short period of time. This included helping her agents double and triple their earnings, giving them the tools and resources they needed to find their true talents as realtors.

During her sessions, Saunders will provide valuable advice on where real estate professionals should spend their time and money, as well as how they can better manage their business overall. She will also cover topics like social media, finding high-quality leads, time management and more.

“I’m excited to leverage my knowledge and experience to help real estate agents across the United States develop the skills they need to increase their effectiveness in this very competitive industry,” Saunders said. “While this is a difficult time to be a realtor, I want everyone out there to know that there are things they can do to improve their bottom line. As the housing market continues to rebound, there will be many opportunities for you to take advantage of, and I want you to be ready.”

Liz Saunders’ four coaching sessions are available for a total of $97, which is only a third of the normal rate she charges for her services. Sessions will take place on January 7, 14, 21 and 28. To learn more and to sign up today, visit <http://coachlizsaunders.com/coaching/>.
