

MyExcelTemplates.net Adds 2013 Calendar, Dozens More to Revamped Site

Redesigned Site Offers Hundreds of Complimentary Calendars and Templates

The holiday season is long over and the new year is well underway. With the new year comes the need for a new calendar. Luckily, those still in search of a 2013 calendar can get one at no charge on MyExcelTemplates.com.

“We hope everyone looking for a 2013 calendar had a safe and happy New Year’s Eve,” said MyExcelTemplates.com spokesman Ben Davidson. “Calendars often can be quite expensive these days. Not only are our calendars complimentary, they are downloadable, printable and completely customizable.”

My Excel Templates offers a vast array of 2013 calendars. In addition to full one-year calendars, blank sheets for each individual month, as well as blank weekly templates are available.

“We know people need and enjoy using calendars in different ways,” said Davidson. “That’s why we have made so many different variations available.”

My Excel Templates is an online leader in calendars, as well as templates, spreadsheets and documents for business and personal needs. A price elasticity of demand calculator, currency converter calculator and auto loan payment calculator are just some of the things available completely complimentary.

“Making life easier, one Excel template at a time is our motto,” said Davidson.

“We are thrilled to have such an extensive inventory and it continues to expand. Visitors are encouraged to come back often to see what we may have that can help them in their everyday lives next.”

For complimentary 2013 calendar templates and for hundreds of other spreadsheets and documents, please visit MyExcelTemplates.com.