Central Consulting Group forms Strategic Alliance with Satori Group for Budgeting and Forecasting Capabilities

CCG's Deltek Vision® Customers Gain Financial Insight

Minneapolis, MN — January 22, 2013 — Central Consulting Group (CCG), which offers a suite of powerful, proprietary add-on financial management products for Deltek Vision® ERP software, recently formed a strategic alliance with Satori Group, the provider of proCube, a high performance, in-memory Business Intelligence platform.

Through the partnership, CCG will integrate proCube with Deltek Vision and CCG add-on products for clients who want proCube's budgeting and forecasting programs. These programs allow clients to create budgets that map out revenue goals and detailed costs of all required resources and activities, and make specific revenue predictions for each billable resource.

"To help our architectural and engineering clients get more out of their software investment, we continually add to our portfolio of Deltek Vision enhancements," stated Jim Falkanger, Managing Partner of CCG, a Deltek Premier Partner. "With Satori's proCube, our clients gain important financial capabilities that can make them more successful," he said.

Satori Group President and Chief Operating Officer John Florio said the CCG alliance is a good strategic fit. "CCG is one of the largest Deltek partners in the world," Florio said. "We gain exposure to more than 1,000 Vision customers who can benefit from the enhanced budgeting and forecasting that our proCube product provides."
