Created by a relationship expert, Adam Rabin, Destroy The Distance, a program that claims to make a relationship rock solid, despite those long miles that keep people apart from their loved one by offering the advice they need to ensure that their love not only remains strong but also flourishes, despite the emptiness that distance brings has caught the attention of DestroyTheDistanceReviews.com's Susan Dawson, prompting an investigative review.

"Destroy The Distance is an instant download program that's all about keeping emotionally connected with your partner even when physically separated. It is backed by the well-known Digital Romance Inc.," reports Dawson. "Destroy The Difference is well written, and actually a joy to read. The content is compelling, instilling you with the guidance and knowledge you need to make your long distance relationship as natural as if you were living in the same town."

The Destroy The Distance review shows it includes a step by step guide towards building a fulfilling and long term relationship, avoiding the long distance relationship traps, taking advantage of technology, and how to deal with problems and find solutions. Michael Fiore's Long Distance Texting where people learn exactly what to text their partner to have exactly the effect they intend is a great bonus that is also included in this program. The process that the program goes through is presented in a step-by-step manner.

"Destroy the Distance is written from personal experience, and this shines through right from the world go. Not only does it "get" all those niggles, insecurities and doubts that naturally plague everyone in such a relationship, but explains in easy to understand terms exactly the way to prevent the miles making your relationship emotionally distant, as well as physically," says Dawson. "One of the biggest problems anyone has when the love of their life is far away is insecurity which equals stress that can become almost overwhelming at times. Apart from all the advice on how to make a long distance relationship stronger, the program also includes some vital advice about stress relief."

"Finding love in the first place can be something that always flutters just out of reach. We all owe it to ourselves to put in the effort needed to make a relationship work – even if it is across the miles. There are so many common traps that cause many a long distance love affair to falter and fail – most of which are completely unnecessary. In my humble opinion, I think that Destroy The Distance is simply a "must have" for anyone who's in or about to enter into a long distance relationship. What it does is help you to literally "cheat proof" your relationship – and honestly will show you exactly the way to deal with the stresses of long distance relationships. In a nutshell, this relationship program is awesome and there's a whole bunch of satisfied recipients out there who are living proof of that."
