Destroy The Distance, a new program from renowned long distance dating expert Adam Rabin has become an overnight best-seller creating a buzz of excitement throughout the internet dating community and drawing a review by DestroyTheDistanceReviews.org's Sara Stevens.

"Adam Rabin's newly released Destroy The Distance training course is a unique digital training program addressing a serious need," reports Stevens. "Many couples are forced to live apart temporarily, and this can create a host of challenges even for the strongest of relationships. I decided to review Rabin's program to see if the system he has developed can indeed help those in long distance relationships to address the many issues that can arise given their geographic separation. Many of our followers are people in long distance relationships, and we want to find the best resources available to help them make their relationships succeed."

Steven's Destroy The Distance review provides background information on the program's creator Adam Rabin and publishing company Digital Romance Inc which is responsible for many popular dating and relationship guides by relationship expert Michael Fiore. From there, the review details the fine points of the program, and lists Pros and Cons those interested may wish to consider.

"Destroy The Difference is indeed a comprehensive and compelling program, full of thoughtful advice on making sure that long distance relationships flourish," says Stevens. "The whole idea is to help folks in long distance relationships feel the same intimate connection that they would feel if they were living in the same city as their partner."
