

The Executive Program in Private Practice Management with optional tDPT

Why EIM?

In short, relationships, faculty, and location.

- EIM students are exposed to a vast community of evidence-based practitioners, both as instructors and colleagues, all embracing best business practices in an Executive MBA-style format. Focus is on the operations management aspect of running a practice, with a clinical component in Radiology, Med Screening, Pharmacology and EBP. The Executive Program offers a tDPT option as well.
- EIM, in partnership with The Private Practice Section of APTA and The Educational Institute for Private Practice Physical Therapy, is closely associated with many of the best academic programs and other key stakeholder groups in the physical therapy profession. PPS members receive a discount on tuition.
- EIM is privileged to be associated with a world class faculty from a variety of the best practices and academic programs in the country who are internationally recognized for their contributions to education, research, and practice management.
- The extensive community that has formed around EIM provides a "first in class" environment for owners and senior managers to receive the highest caliber of training and practical application to their private practice which will provide a strategic competitive advantage in the marketplace.
- The majority of the program happens wherever you happen to be, providing the flexibility to have a life while working, furthering your education and developing lifelong relationships with faculty and fellow students.

The Objective: A 12-month program of post-professional education for physical therapists designed to enhance the business savvy and sophistication of private practice physical therapy with evidence-based business and best practices which result in elevation of the role of physical therapy in health care delivery as well as the status of PT's in the marketplace.

The Experience: A combination of didactic and collaborative education experiences using a combination of distance learning, on-line courses, and onsite courses. PT's will develop documents specific to their practice to enhance the management of their operation. Course work requires 3-6 hours per week, whenever it is convenient for you.

The Opportunity: Create and sustain a community of private practices that enable ongoing collaboration and cross consulting after completion of the program.

The Outcome: Executive Program courses are designed so that graduates will:

- Grow as managers with a strong base of knowledge of evidence-based business and best practices.
- Strengthen their practice to obtain strategic competitive advantages in the marketplace, thereby strengthening the private practice community.
- Integrate and execute 'best in class' tools and practical techniques for all major aspects of private practice.
- Gain access to a network of private practitioners for long-term collaboration.
- If desired, obtain the only tDPT with an operations management focus.

Start clinical courses in February or March!
