WellCare Community Foundation Donates $10,000 To American Red Cross For Georgia Tornado Relief

TAMPA, Fla. (Feb. 14, 2013) — WellCare Health Plans, Inc. (NYSE: WCG) today announced that the WellCare Community Foundation has donated $10,000 to the American Red Cross to assist local Georgia communities impacted by the devastating tornado that swept across Bartow and Gordon counties on Jan. 30, 2013.

“WellCare and our associates are committed to helping support our neighbors as they recover from this devastating event,” said David McNichols, WellCare of Georgia President. “The tornado impacted the lives of our members and providers throughout the area. We appreciate the work of the American Red Cross and the key role it is playing in bringing needed disaster relief services to our communities.”

WellCare of Georgia took steps to ensure its members received uninterrupted access to health care services and supplies in the storm’s aftermath. As of Dec. 31, 2012, WellCare served more than 600,000 Georgia residents who are enrolled in its Medicaid, PeachCare for Kids[®], Medicare Advantage and Medicare Prescription Drug Plans.

“It’s only through the generosity of the community that Georgia’s Red Cross is able to bring relief to neighbors devastated by disasters like the recent tornado in Bartow and Gordon counties,” said Terri Badour Duckett, CEO of the American Red Cross of Georgia. “We’re grateful to the WellCare Community Foundation for its financial support, which ensures that Red Cross volunteers can respond with help and hope in the Georgia counties we both serve.”
