Unlike other recruiting and staffing software solutions, Bond AdaptSuite combines all front-office and back-office capabilities into a single Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) solution that can significantly reduce IT infrastructure and support costs while improving both user productivity and business performance.

“Staffing firms come under constant pressure to operate more effectively and efficiently to stay ahead of the competition,” says Tim Giehl, CMO of Bond International Software Inc. “Bond AdaptSuite provides the ultimate in agility and visibility for staffing firms, which directly translates into increased sales, enhanced client services and improved profits.”

Bond’s AdaptSuite staffing software solution for commercial and professional staffing firms includes:

- Specifically designed features for the unique requirements of the recruiting and staffing industry based on 40 years’ supporting leading firms around the world
- Scalable, configurable and affordable functionality for faster growth and greater productivity
- Cloud-hosted SaaS environment with a choice of either front office or seamless front and back office
- Front office Enterprise version available in Cloud-hosted MSP or Self-hosted models

Bond handles all servers, data storage, backups, data security and upgrade responsibilities with the cloud-hosted solutions. Its state-of-the-art Tier-1 site provides world-class uptime, reliability, and security. To ensure world-class data security, Bond’s hosted infrastructure is certified under the rigid data security standards of ISO 27001.

Steve Taylor, Bond International Software Inc. CEO adds “AdaptSuite is the result of a tremendous effort over the last year and a half to combine the best of our front office recruiting features with our industry standard back office capabilities. Customers will recognize the robustness of the features they have become accustomed to as well as benefit from the many enhancements that have been delivered. The introduction of AdaptSuite at the Staffing Industry Executive Forum demonstrates our commitment to delivering flexible, web-based products and services to the industry. This is an exciting time for our industry, a time where technology can truly assist organizations to be more efficient, and Bond is pleased to be at the forefront of providing world class solutions to our customers”.
