North Carolina Law Firm Adds Two Attorneys & Expands with New Practice Area

Attorneys Margaret S. Davis and Travis M. Harper Join HensonFuerst Attorneys

RALEIGH, N.C., Mar. 1, 2013—North Carolina law firm HensonFuerst Attorneys welcomes two lawyers—Margaret “Maggie” S. Davis and Travis M. Harper. The law firm will now host a team of 15 lawyers who focus on various areas of legal practice and more than 40 staff members.

New Attorneys Bring Varied Legal Experience

Both Harper and Davis are located in HensonFuerst’s Raleigh office and bring varied professional experiences to their positions.

As the head of the law firm’s Wage and Hour division, Davis will concentrate her legal practice on Fair Labor Standards Act violations and wage and hour disputes. In addition to her legal experience, Davis spent two years serving in the United States Peace Corps in The Gambia, West Africa. She explains “I strongly believe in the rights of employees, and I will fight hard to maximize the wages and benefits they are owed.”

Harper, who brings more than six years of legal experience, in addition to a doctoral degree, focuses his legal practice on civil litigation. He states that “personal injury claims aren’t just about seeking money. Rather, they’re about resolving claims in such a way that clients can restore their lives and have the best possible chance to live the lives they wanted prior to their injuries.”

Wage and Hour Legal Practice

HensonFuerst is expanding with a new practice area: Wage and Hour. The Wage and Hour legal practice at the law firm focuses on the Fair Labor Standards Act and North Carolina Wage and Hour Act, to ensure employees earn fair wages under both state and federal laws.

Cases handled by the Wage and Hour division at HensonFuerst may include claims for unpaid overtime, minimum wage violations, unfair termination, and other employment-related disputes.

“Along with all of the attorneys at HensonFuerst, I want to welcome Maggie and Travis to our law firm. We’re passionate about representing individuals’ rights, and we’re happy to have these two attorneys on our team.”
