

New Features Improve Sales Reports for Focused Business Analysis

MEAL PERIODS

Restaurant managers and owners can gain a new level of insight about sales in relation to specific time periods with the use of the new Meal Periods feature. For example, by setting up in and out times for both breakfast and lunch, managers can easily see sales data for each of these shifts, including total sales and number of orders.

REVENUE CENTERS

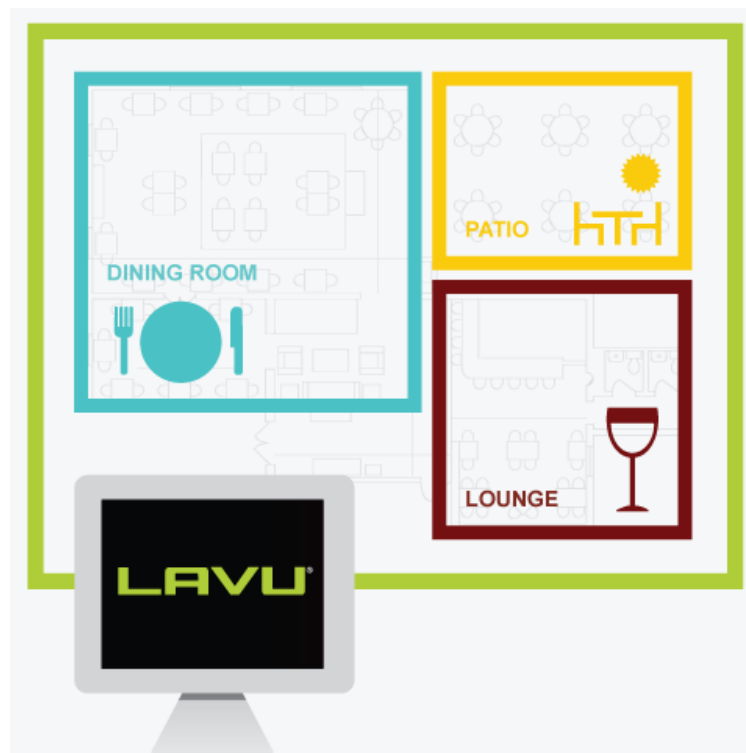

The new Revenue Centers feature will help restaurants track sales data in relation to specific areas of their floorplan. Bar sales, dining room sales and patio sales are some examples of possible Revenue Centers that a restaurant owner might wish to track separately. This feature can help restaurant operators pinpoint areas for improvement or expansion, or to make staffing adjustments.

HAPPY HOUR

The Happy Hour feature provides automatic discounts for assigned times. This flexible tool easily accommodates both percentage and dollar-amount discounts applied to individual menu items or entire menu categories. Businesses can customize a their Happy Hour settings as generally or specifically as they need and let the Lavu iPad POS system seamlessly handle the rest.
