

CALLING ALL OBSTETRICIANS:

STOP CUTTING BABY BOYS!

In the United States, federal law protects girls from genital cutting. So why do obstetricians continue to remove healthy, normal foreskins from baby boys?

Just last month, the journal Pediatrics published an important statement from nearly 40 European and Canadian physicians and ethicists, who criticized the American medical establishment for promoting circumcision, a surgery that most of the world considers unnecessary, harmful, and a violation of children's rights.

As the American Congress of Obstetricians and Gynecologists meets in New Orleans this weekend for its annual conference, Intact America demands that doctors stop putting their own cultural biases and financial gain ahead of human rights and medical ethics, and stop circumcising baby boys.
