

NEW BENCH COOKIE® BRIDGES ADD CONVENIENCE TO FINISHING AND PAINTING

Latest Accessory Offers Stable Support, Minimal Surface Contact

MEDINA, MN (May 15, 2013) - Rockler Woodworking and Hardware has added Bench Cookie® Bridges to its line of Bench Cookie® Work Grippers and accessories. The bridges are smoky translucent plastic caps that slide over the top of Bench Cookie® Work Grippers and feature a bridge support to facilitate painting, finishing, and other projects that require elevating the workpiece with minimal surface contact. Finishing narrow pieces for framing, molding, hardwood edging, shutter louvers, and other projects is especially convenient on the 2" wide bridge supports.

"Bench Cookie® Bridges are exceptionally stable while maintaining minimal surface contact with workpieces," says Scott Ekman, Vice President of the Marketing Department. "Because of the minimal surface contact, you can flip your workpiece over and finish the other side without damaging it."

Bench Cookie® Bridges are made of durable, lightweight smoky gray translucent plastic. They feature three tabs which hug the edge of Bench Cookie® Work Grippers to stay firmly in place while supporting workpieces with the narrow contact bridge. Because the bridges slide over the top of Bench Cookies, the Cookies themselves are protected from paint and finish drips. The bridges nest and stack neatly, taking up minimal space when stored.

The Bench Cookie® Bridges (46554) are sold in packs of four and retail for $5.99 per pack. They can be purchased at Rockler Woodworking and Hardware stores nationwide, Rockler independent resellers, Rockler.com, or from the Rockler catalog.
