SubOut.com Now Offers Roadside Assistance
Providing Members Greater Security on the Road

(May 24, 2013) Hyannis, Mass. – SubOut.com, a subscription-based communications exchange for the transportation industry, now offers members 24/7 roadside assistance. This vital service is a welcomed addition to SubOut, providing members with greater security and value to their SubOut.com subscription. Features of the new roadside assistance service include towing, flat tire replacement, fuel delivery, concierge services, battery assistance, specialized bus mechanics and much more.

Roadside assistance is just one of the many benefits that SubOut.com provides its members. The website also allows companies to post and bid on jobs, vehicles and parts through an easy-to-use cloud-based system. By adding roadside assistance to their long list of services, SubOut.com is continuing to expand as a communication hub for the transportation industry.

SubOut.com founder and CEO, Gary Pudles, is excited about the expansion of SubOut.com's services. "We really listen to our members because we want to understand what is important to their business, and provide as much value as possible for their membership. Adding roadside assistance to the SubOut.com benefits does this, and helps our members communicate a message of safety and reliability to their own customers," says Pudles.

SubOut.com membership fees are affordably priced. A national subscription to SubOut.com is $199 a month and includes access to the communication system as well as roadside assistance for up to two buses. To learn more, visit www.SubOut.com.

About SubOut:

Award-winning entrepreneur, Gary Pudles, and renowned software architect, Thomas McCarthy-Howe, founded SubOut.com in 2011 as a way to ease the day-to-day challenges faced by owner/operators of charter bus services. Now, with SubOut.com, transportation companies can source business; increase safety with roadside assistance; buy and sell parts; and, streamline subcontracting via a secure, easy-to-use interface accessible from any web-enabled device. SubOut.com dramatically increases a company's ability to do business quickly and efficiently. Discover SubOut at www.SubOut.com.
