

Who is MOB Advocacy?

Adam J. Bullian

Principal

Adam J. Bullian is a principal at MOB Advocacy. He brings keen political insight and experience managing complex national regulatory programs to serve clients in this full-service, multi-state government relations firm.

Adam joined MOB Advocacy after several years in government relations practice. "I believe strongly in supporting small businesses as they grow in their market. One thing I have noticed lacking in many small business is access to top of the line government relations services. This can put them at a significant disadvantage. However, in joining MOB Advocacy I believe I can partner with small businesses to deliver to them the government relations services they need to help give them a competitive advantage."

Prior to joining MOB Advocacy, Adam was founder and treasurer of On Call For America, a non-affiliated political action committee. He also served as manager, state issues at Stateside Associates where he focused on federal and state regulatory developments and compliance, grassroots organization, and the states' implementation of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Michael O'Brien, founder and principal of MOB Advocacy is very pleased to have Adam on board. "Adam brings unique skill sets and experiences to the firm. He's an attorney, he has extensive regulatory experience, he has political experience, and he is entrepreneurial with an understanding of the start-up mentality having launched a national super PAC," said Michael. "I am excited he is on board and he will be a great asset to the firm and our clients."

Adam was recently asked why he joined MOB Advocacy. He said, "I feel MOB Advocacy is able to deliver the same quality and outcomes as a large government relations firm, while maintaining excellent access to Michael and myself. It is the perfect balance between strong results and experience without compromising access and client input that makes MOB Advocacy an excellent fit for me."
