

London Global Consultants LTD

London Global Consultant LTD is an in London based consultancy company which offers its services globally to organisation and individuals. Our expertise is founded by our background in anthropology and psychology combined with an eye for behavioural pattern, deception and credibility. We are certified micro-expression experts. Our speciality is seeing inconsistencies in speech, body language, micro-expression and appearance that imply deceptions and hidden intentions.

Our clients are organisation and individuals, who want to understand the potential and motivations of the people they are dealing with. They want to protect themselves for deceptions or want to find out the truth to clarify a situation. Furthermore, they want to enhance the outcome of negotiations, candidate search and the potential of their organisation.

“The wizards’ success rate was even higher than the traditional polygraph test, which is used in the US and is claimed to have a 60% to 70% success rate.”

BBC

“After testing more than 12,000 people using a sequential testing protocol involving three different lie detection accuracy measures, O’Sullivan and Ekman identified 29 highly accurate individuals. These individuals had a kind of genius with respect to the observation of verbal and nonverbal clues ...”

O’Sullivan, University of San Francisco
