

Brown Box Formula: Review Examining Ezra Firestone's E-Commerce Training Released

SUMMARY: HonestyFirstReviews.com releases a review of Ezra Firestone's "Brown Box Formula" a training program for those wishing to increase their E-commerce profits.

Ezra Firestone's Brown Box Formula has just been released to the public sending shock waves through the E-commerce community and drawing an investigative review from HonestyFirstReviews.com's Tiffany Hendricks.

"E-commerce has always been a hot topic among online marketers," reports Hendricks. "But, due to a few recent changes to the marketplace, the online physical goods market has just become more attractive than ever. Our website visitors are demanding E-commerce training and we are always looking for solutions we can feel good about recommending, so when we were informed about the launch of Firestone's Brown Box Formula we were excited to review the program for our readers."

Hendricks' Brown Box Formula review explains that the course provides customers with step by step instructions for "carbon copying" Firestone's E-commerce business plans. This includes information on finding the best products, how to "load up" one's products on to popular sales channels like Amazon, and how launch a new E-commerce store in less than a day.

"In the past setting up an E-commerce store took a lot of time and money," says Hendricks. "This was something that even savvy, successful business owners struggled with because of all the complicated technology involved. In our review of Firestone's course we discussed the fact because of recent technological breakthroughs, this isn't even an issue anymore. Nowadays using pre-built E-commerce platforms one can have a fully functional E-commerce store up and running for about 29 dollars."

In addition to the 7-Module Brown Box Formula training customers receive access to Firestone's personal promotion tactics, hacks, tricks, suppliers and sources, membership in the Digital Retailers Association, and four weeks of live mentoring sessions.

"Today giant online realtors are begging for smaller E-commerce merchants to partner with," says Hendricks. "And with wholesalers willing to warehouse and ship products on the merchant's behalf it has never been easier to get physical products in front of eager buyers, or to get the products into their hands. Certainly many folks will be eager to try out Firestone's tested E-commerce methods for themselves."

Those wishing to purchase the Brown Box Formula, or for more information, click here.

Tiffany Hendricks provides reviews of the best internet marketing courses, software and digital training programs on her website HonestyFirstReviews.com. Hendricks' Brown Box Formula review is available at this web address: <http://www.honestyfirstreviews.com/ezra-firestones-brown-box-formula-review-e-commerce-training/>

###