

Waste Optimization: A Driver of Profitability

Waste optimization can be a powerful driver of greater profitability for your company. Here is an example:

A Fortune 500 company contacted us about recycling their packing waste. After performing a thorough audit of their waste management systems, we learned that they were incurring hundreds of thousands of dollars in freight; landfilling usable packaging and unnecessary incineration fees for non-hazardous products. Recycle Solutions provided traditional recycling, product destruction, and recovered returnable packaging. Providing the right equipment, hands-on labor, and oversight, we developed a solution that enabled them to save over $750,000 per year while increasing their landfill diversion to 100%. We saved them money, generated revenue, and removed them from the "landfill grid."

Product Destruction

There are few greater threats to the long-term success of your company than having defective products accidentally leaked into the market or supply chain, or disposed of in an unethical way. Even one incident of a consumer being harmed, negative press, or substandard products being sold, can cost you millions of dollars and years of goodwill. You have to know that the company you select to destroy your items gets it right—every time. Our secure facility, large fleet of trucks, and state-of-the-art destruction equipment means your items are destroyed quickly, safely, and with required documentation. Our unique destruction process provides not only security but improved environmental impact to traditional incineration.

Food and Organics

We are able to separate the food from the packaging, recover raw materials from the packaging, and turn the food waste into agricultural feed. This process diverts tons of material from our landfills and helps maximize agricultural resources. Recycle out-of-date packaged snack foods and soft drinks, dented or damaged materials from manufacturers or distributors, mislabeled packages, and recalled food items.
