BRYAN / COLLEGE STATION NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION GAINS IMPROVED WEBSITE

Central Texas Orphan Mission Alliance, also known as CTOMA, is a non-profit organization that provides medical efforts, pro-life ministry, disaster relief, orphanage assistance, and other mission work to orphans in the U.S. and abroad. The new website features high quality photo galleries and other interactive online resources.

College Station, TX, June 29, 2013— AgniTEK, a nationally-recognized company for their expertise in helping organizations leverage technology to improve businesses, is pleased to announce the launch of a new and improved website for the Central Texas Orphan Mission Alliance, CTOMA. The website launched on June 20, 2013 and is now live.

CTOMA is a non-profit organization that was formed in 2004 to help meet the physical, medical, and spiritual needs of orphans in the U.S. and abroad. The efforts from CTOMA are currently focused in Haiti, Uganda, Mexico, and Central America. They also do local volunteer work in the Bryan/College Station community. CTOMA provides many services to benefit those less fortunate both local and abroad. Among those services are medical efforts, a pro-life ministry that offers free ultrasounds and counseling to abortion-minded women, disaster relief, mission trip sponsorship, and orphanage assistance. To learn more about CTOMA, visit their website today at www.ctoma.org.

This new website was intended to provide viewers with a highly organized and easily navigable means of gaining knowledge on this organization. The website redesign features new high quality photo galleries, easy to access online form modules to contact the organization for more information, and a way to donate to their services online. This new and improved website provides CTOMA with a more efficient way to inform viewers of their services as well as provide President, Karen Hall, with an easier way to process requests.
