FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

GOLDMAN SACHS, JP MORGAN ALLEGED ANTITRUST ALUMINUM STORAGE COLLUSION

TALLAHASSEE FLORIDA (August 6, 2013) – Antitrust Justice lawsuit was filed today against GOLDMAN SACHS GROUP, INC., METRO INTERNATIONAL TRADE SERVICES, GLENCORE XSTRATA, INC., HENRY BATH, LLC, HENRY BATH & SON LTD., JP MORGAN CHASE & CO., THE LONDON METAL EXCHANGE, and related cartel and collusive parties, for their illegal antitrust aluminium hoarding that has cost direct and indirect aluminium consumers $5 billion dollars over the past 3 years, and $3 billion dollars during this past year alone. Copy of MASTERS SCREEN, INC., and GRACE ADRIANNA FLETCHER, et al., v. GOLDMAN SACHS GROUP, INC., et al., Case No: 4:13-CV-431, United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida, Tallahassee Division. Antitrust Justice Lawsuit attached.

GOLDMAN SACHS, JP MORGAN and the Defendants allegedly conspired to store and hoard aluminium in order to pocket $5 billion in monopolized taking from the market over the past several years. “GOLDMAN SACHS, JP MORGAN and its conspirators assert the ideal of free market allocation of resources and efficiencies, and anti-government regulation, while they intentionally take $ billions through anti-free market collusion,” said Professor Howard. “This manipulation of storage facilities and regulators to permit their intentional inefficient monopolistic storage of aluminium exposes this brand of predatory capitalism. Free markets are to be free, not inefficiently controlled by $ multi-trillion dollar, multi-national corporations to take wealth from market purchasers,” Professor Howard continued.

“As a consumer that believes in free markets, and efficient competition, GOLDMAN SACHS’ and JP MORGAN’S conspiracy to steal wealth from the markets through hoarding aluminium and other commodities makes me angry,” said Grace Fletcher. “I am glad that there are justice advocates and antitrust laws to hold multi-national companies accountable.”
