Secaucus, New Jersey – Yusen Logistics, the global logistics and supply chain provider, is pleased to announce their recognition in Logistics Management Magazine's 30th annual Quest for Quality awards. The company was recognized as one of the top Intermodal Marketing Companies in the industry.

This award marks the second consecutive year the company was recognized as a top provider of Intermodal services and third consecutive year of recognition overall. Yusen Logistics received the highest marks in the category for on-time performance and value.

“What makes this achievement especially gratifying is that our customers cast the votes for the top providers in each category of the Quest for Quality Awards”, said Mike Liantonio, Senior VP and GM of Transportation. “We are known as a company that provides superior customer service and value on a worldwide basis, and this award is a wonderful reflection of our culture of customer satisfaction that our team members are delivering every day. We are extremely honored with this recognition.”

Logistics Management Magazine has published the Quest for Quality awards since 1983. Each year, they survey a representative sample of their readers to evaluate the transportation carriers, ports, and service providers that they do business with. It is considered the most respected third party evaluation in the transportation and logistics industry.
