

An engagement tool that ensures your most important messages are understood and acted on!

Standard text-based messages are misunderstood 50% of the time, according to the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology. We've all had the experience of sending messages that miss the mark because the true intent gets lost in the written word.

You need a new communication tool for your most important messages.

Ving clearly and effectively communicates your most important messages by capturing body language, tone of voice, and text in one unique communication package. A cloud-based application, Ving enables you to create a multi-media package containing videos, documents, presentations, audio files, text, and surveys.

As recipients interact with your Ving messages, you get real-time feedback on your engagement dashboard so you know that your messages are understood and acted on.

Use Ving for:

Onboarding • Policy Updates • Management Communication

Your most important messages deserve Ving!
