Residence Inn National Harbor Washington, D.C., Offers New Family Deal

Maryland extended-stay hotel provides deluxe accommodations, tickets to national kids' museum as part of promotion

National Harbor, MD – Families traveling to the Washington, D.C., area can now enjoy a day of learning and fun at a local children's museum thanks to a special offer from the Residence Inn National Harbor Washington, D.C.

Moms and dads can spark their family's imaginations at the only national museum dedicated especially to children. With the Stay and Play Package, the extended-stay hotel in National Harbor, Maryland offers deluxe accommodations for $239 per night plus four tickets to the National Children's Museum.

Located just one-quarter mile from the National Harbor hotel, the National Children's Museum is a nationally recognized educational institution focusing on six core areas: the arts, civic engagement, environment, global citizenship, play and health and well-being. The museum features main exhibits, a theater and program rooms, all designed for young children to learn through play. Indoor experiences include the 3-and-under gallery featuring interactive play stations and programming. The "Our World" room explores the vast differences in nature and cultures. The theater provides a variety of shows and programs for kids and parents, while the Center for Learning and Innovation offers hands-on programming.

As well as exploring at the museum, visitors can visit other area attractions. National Harbor offers restaurants, shops and other entertainment that will please the young and more mature. Old Town Alexandria features 30 unique shops for the entire family. Guests can take the free King Street Trolley to explore other parts of the historic city. Travelers in the area on Saturday can see the Old Town Farmers Market, where George Washington once sent his produce from Mount Vernon to sell.

Other historic options include all the monuments and museums of Washington, D.C., from the White House and Jefferson and Lincoln memorials to the Smithsonian Museum and Washington Monument.

Guests at the hotel near the National Children's Museum will enjoy spacious suites with separate living and dining areas, fully equipped kitchens, free Wi-Fi Internet access and complimentary breakfasts. After a full day of adventure in the area, guests can enjoy a meal crafted in their suite's kitchen or get local restaurant delivery. Relaxing after-dinner options include a patio with a fire pit as well as an indoor pool. The hotel's 162 spacious suites also offer comfortable spaces to watch TV, explore the Internet and simply enjoy the family.

The Stay and Play Package is valid through Dec. 31, 2013. Guests can book reservations online using promotional code P42 or by calling 1-800-228-9290.
