Local Legends complete line of Wild Game Marinades and Rice Blends were created by hunters, for hunters to provide flavor combinations for wild game feasts. The owner, Melissa Yerza grew up in one of the premier duck hunting regions in Colusa, California. While growing up, Melissa spent time hunting with her father. This and his “secret sauce” for his barbequed duck sparked her interest to market and nationally distribute a line of hunter-oriented food products. Melissa now lives near Houston, Texas and loves introducing her friends to the flavors of the outdoors. To learn more about Local Legends and their products, visit their website today.
