

AvaTrade, a modestly sized broker who brings a lot of flexibility and different features to the table has caught the attention of ForexVestor.com's Stan Stevenson, prompting an investigative review.

"AvaTrade, formerly AvaFX, moved away from solely the Forex market to incorporate other markets as well. Presently, they still work with Forex, but also with various indices, commodities and stocks. What really sets AvaTrade apart, however, is their openness and transparency," reports Stevenson. "AvaTrade offers mobile, web based, and downloadable trading platforms that are fully integrated with various other service providers. The platform is suitable for novice traders, but just as much for expert traders. The dealing interface takes just one click and whatever the market conditions may be, the spreads are always fixed."

There are a number of educational resources available on the AvaTrade site, which is hugely beneficial. Though these are mainly geared towards the novice traders, even the veterans may be able to pick up some good information from here. Another unique feature is the Ava debit card, which is provided to any trader that opens a live account, as well as charting tools for those who make a deposit greater than $1,000. In their fixed spreads, the pips can start at 3 and can go all the way up to 120. Furthermore, there are more than five different types of trading accounts and eight different trading platforms. Rather than a taking commission, the broker offers a spread of between 3 and 7 pips. Their customer service is amazing and is offered through live chat, email, and telephone support in a huge range of different languages.

"Our AvaTrade review shows that it is incredibly user friendly and it will take you no time whatsoever to get used to it. One of the things that really stood out for me is the fact that no commissions are charged, which is very rare," says Stevenson. "The platform also offers a huge range of payment options, both for deposits and withdrawals, which means that anyone should be able to use this platform. There are also very regular promotions and bonuses for people to take advantage of and the platform offers comprehensive market analysis. What matters most, however, is the fact that the platform is stable, safe and reliable."

"Many companies who have tried expanding like AvaTrade have found that they simply couldn't cope with their customers' new demands. I am impressed with this established Forex broker who has completely redesigned the look and feel of their platforms, ensuring that novices and experts alike can trade in their favorite stocks, currencies, commodities and more. The company has really set the bar and they have set it high and they also offer various bonuses and promotions. All in all, I fully recommend AvaTrade to anybody."
