Even seasoned practitioners are challenged when navigating the Chinese EB-5 market. Doing business in China requires in depth knowledge of local customs and culture. Chinese migration agencies are the bridge that connects practitioners and regional centers to investors. Barriers such as China's sheer size and language create obstacles for directly connecting to migration agents. This invaluable single resource is a marketing compass, providing a rolodex of migration agencies and contacts that will allow you to jumpstart or evolve your EB-5 practice or regional center.
