Follow Your Inner Voice

JANUARY 3, 2014

I think there is a moment in our lives when we can cross our mental boundaries. There is a moment when we can make a decision to really listen to that still, small voice within.

That small voice is our highest authority; It is our greatest strength, deepest peace, and everything we would hope for. We realize that if we follow that inner voice and pay attention, life unfolds in a new way. Opportunities present themselves and our possibilities expand.

Let's cross that mental boundary today, each one of us, with a decision; moment by moment.

Follow Your Inner Voice,

Mary

The Difference Between Character and Reputation

DECEMBER 19, 2013

While listening to a radio talk show, I once heard the host repeat something I'd never heard before that Abraham Lincoln said.

Lincoln was speaking about character and reputation and the difference. Lincoln said that character is like the tree; reputation its shadow.

Many of us have chased after reputation or while concerned about reputation, have forgotten to grow a really strong, beautiful, powerful, deeply-rooted tree.

Send your roots down deep. Let the green growing edges of you come forth; Everything else will take care of itself.
