

Dating women is not rocket science and comes natural to some men, but for most guys, they need help and advice on attracting women and turning them into their girlfriend. Recognizing this need, Mark Lewis and his team at <http://GetAGirlfriendSecrets.com> have been working to put together helpful information to help more men figure out how to get a girlfriend or attract more women, depending on the person's goals.

"In our latest article we reveal 7 tips of how to get a girlfriend but before one rushes over to read it, readers must realize that they should approach it with an open mind. Thousands of men have followed our information and have seen success with it. Many guy's have been taught by society what to do, but it's all wrong, and that's why they aren't having the success they are seeking," states Lewis.

"Deep down most women are wired the same, thus once guy's learn how they operate and what women really want, it will be easier for them to start dating attractive women," he continues.

Some of the tips in the article include how to stay out of the friend zone, how to give her the right attention, how to be confident and not cocky and a few more tips. The website was just launched in early February and has been adding more tips for men each week with the goal of becoming the ultimate go to spot for men to get attraction and dating advice unlike many of the scammy pickup artist sites on the Internet.

To access the "How To Get A Girlfriend Tips" article, one should visit:

<http://getagirlfriendsecrets.com/how-to-get-a-girlfriend>

Lewis has also recommended that for men who are ready to take action on getting a girlfriend should go [watch this presentation on "3 Steps That Transform A "Cold" Girl Into Your Loving, Loyal Girlfriend" here: <http://getagirlfriendsecrets.com/go/3StepsToGF/>